A Mystery Walk

Our drama club created a mystery walk through the old part of our town. Mei's ____16____ for local history was clear: she spent every free afternoon reading old maps simply because she loved the subject. The team wanted visitors to feel a sense of ____17____ as they explored unfamiliar lanes and discovered places they had never noticed before. When a cardboard ghost suddenly fell from a window, one visitor let out a loud ____18____ that everyone in the next street could hear, then laughed in relief. A sudden ____19____ of visitors arrived just after lunch, so the team introduced starting times to prevent crowding. At the final stop, a muddy footprint became the decisive ____20____ that helped visitors identify which character had entered the garden. After finishing the walk, families compared their ideas over cups of tea and explained which details had changed their minds. The club kept their comments to improve the next event.

四 閱讀測驗

第 21 至 28 題，每題 2 分。依各篇文章選出最佳答案。

Reading A The Cup Return Problem

At Brook High School, students could borrow a reusable cup from the cafe by paying a small deposit. They received the money back when they returned the cup. The student council expected this system to reduce waste, but many cups remained in classrooms at the end of each day. In interviews, students said they usually remembered the cups; the problem was that the cafe closed before their last class ended.

For the next two weeks, the council placed return boxes near the school gates and kept the deposit unchanged. The number of cups returned on the day they were borrowed rose from 60 out of 100 to 85 out of 100. The cafe also washed every returned cup before lending it again. However, the council did not count how many disposable cups students bought during either period.

Some members wanted to announce that the project had reduced waste by 25 percent. Others disagreed. A higher return rate showed that returning borrowed cups had become easier, but it did not reveal how much total waste the school produced. The council therefore decided to record both cup returns and purchases of disposable cups during a longer trial. It also planned to ask students who still kept their cups overnight what prevented them from returning them.

deposit = 押金；disposable = 拋棄式的。

() 21. What was the main reason for adding return boxes near the gates?

- (A) To make students pay a larger deposit.
- (B) To let students wash cups after class.
- (C) To stop the cafe from lending more cups.
- (D) To let students return cups after the cafe closed.

() 22. Which statement is directly supported by the recorded numbers?

- (A) More borrowed cups were returned on the same day.
- (B) Students bought fewer disposable cups during the trial.
- (C) The school's total waste fell by exactly one quarter.
- (D) Every student returned a cup before going home.

() 23. In paragraph 2, what does 'either period' refer to?

- (A) The first and last classes on the same school day.
- (B) The cafe's opening hours and the time after it closed.
- (C) The periods before and after the boxes were added.
- (D) The time before and after a borrowed cup was washed.

() 24. Why did the council plan a longer trial with another kind of record?

- (A) To prove that every unreturned cup had been lost.
- (B) To judge the environmental result with more complete evidence.
- (C) To replace student interviews with guesses about their habits.
- (D) To find a reason to remove all the new return boxes.

Reading B From Writing to Speaking

In the first month of an English discussion club, twelve students attended regularly, but only a few spoke. The leader, Lina, first thought the quiet members were not interested. Instead of requiring everyone to speak immediately, she asked each member to write one reason for staying silent. Several students said they needed time to organize their ideas. Others worried that a mistake would interrupt the discussion.

Lina changed the next four meetings. Before each discussion, members spent two minutes writing. They then shared their ideas with one partner before speaking to the whole group. Lina also allowed members to submit a question on paper. By the fourth meeting, nine students had contributed at least once, compared with four at the first meeting. One student, however, said that speaking with the same partner every week limited the range of opinions he heard.

The club decided to keep the preparation time but change partners regularly. Lina did not claim that the new activities alone explained the improvement: members might also have become more familiar with one another. Still, their written comments helped her understand a problem she had first misread. For her, participation was no longer simply a matter of asking quiet people to try harder. It also depended on how the activity was organized.

- () 25. Which title best expresses the main idea?
- (A) Changing a Discussion So More Members Can Join In
 - (B) Winning a Speaking Contest with Perfect Grammar
 - (C) Choosing the Most Experienced Leader for a Club
 - (D) Replacing Group Discussions with Written Tests
- () 26. Which change directly addressed the need to organize ideas before speaking?
- (A) Requiring every member to speak as soon as a meeting began.
 - (B) Allowing only the most active members to ask questions.
 - (C) Keeping the same discussion partner for the whole year.
 - (D) Giving members two minutes to write before sharing.
- () 27. Why did the club decide to change partners regularly?
- (A) Quiet students had asked to stop all pair work.
 - (B) A member wanted to hear a wider variety of views.
 - (C) Lina wanted to avoid reading written comments.
 - (D) The club no longer had time for preparation.
- () 28. Why was Lina careful about explaining the increase in participation?
- (A) No one had written down how many students spoke.
 - (B) All members had already mastered public speaking.
 - (C) Growing familiarity might also have helped students speak.
 - (D) The changes had made every member less willing to talk.

五 混合題

第 2 9 至 3 2 題，每題 2 分；第 3 3 題 6 分。閱讀公告與表格，再依各題指示作答。

School Service Day

Registration closes at 4:00 p.m. on Friday. Each student may join ONE team. Check the schedule and requirements before choosing. The school will lend all necessary tools. Students must bring a water bottle, but no previous volunteer experience is required. Work in pairs and follow the team leader's instructions throughout the activity.

Outdoor teams will move to the gym if it rains; their starting and ending times will stay the same. The Office Team will work in the school office in all weather. Students must attend the full session, including the final cleanup. A bus to Central Station leaves the school at 11:40 a.m. Students who need it should choose a team that finishes before then.

closed-toe shoes = 包覆腳趾的鞋。

Team	Time	Main task	Special requirement
Garden Team	09:00-11:00	Plant flowers outdoors	Bring a hat
Office Team	10:00-12:00	Sort donated books indoors	Read small labels
Repair Team	09:30-11:30	Fix chairs outdoors	Wear closed-toe shoes

Leo cannot arrive before 9:20 a.m. He needs to take the 11:40 a.m. bus, can read small labels, and owns closed-toe shoes. He has no previous volunteer experience.

() 29. Which team can Leo join while meeting all his time limits?

- (A) Garden Team only (B) Office Team only (C) Garden Team or Repair Team (D) Repair Team only () 30. Which statement correctly describes the arrangements for a rainy day?

- (A) The Repair Team changes location but keeps its original hours.
 (B) The Garden Team starts later and no longer needs a full session.
 (C) The Office Team moves to the gym with all the outdoor teams.
 (D) All teams finish early so every student can catch the bus.

31. Copy TWO consecutive words from the notice to complete the sentence: Every student must bring a _____.

32. Copy TWO consecutive words from the notice: On a rainy day, outdoor teams keep the same starting and _____.

33. Sam writes, 'I have never volunteered before, so I cannot join any team.' In ONE or TWO English sentences, correct his misunderstanding and tell him ONE action he must complete before Service Day. Use the registration deadline in your answer.
